It is important that students come to class on time. Three delays/early departures will be considered one absence. A correct, active and responsible participation is strictly recommended. During lectures, students are not allowed to use any electronic devices (cell-phones, Ipod, Blackberry etc.). Use of the computer in class is restricted to oral presentations, unless previously approved by the professor. Note-taking is mandatory. Eating is NOT allowed in class. Cellular phones must be turned off or placed on silent mode during class.

You are responsible for the weekly readings, the information given to you in class, on handouts and via email. Part of your grade will be determined by regular attendance, participation in class discussions and active engagement in all activities of this course. Make sure to check your email on a regular basis for updates and additional information.

- Discussion: to participate in meaningful, purposeful class discussions of the texts; to share ideas and insights, to identify and to answer important and relevant questions, to compare/contrast and to debate various interpretations and points of view.
- Writing: to discover, to clarify, to critique and to articulate one's ideas and interpretations and to improve one's writing skills by producing essays and papers on the texts.

- Personal: to relate specific course topics to one's own life experience and personal values, including the reasons for one's aesthetic likes and dislikes; to learn autonomy which means to manage and evaluate one's learning through the development of one's ability to search for, discover, understand and make constructive use of knowledge.
